PARENTS' LAZINESS
BLAMED FOR YOUTHS'
DERELICTIONS*Treated Amusements Are Too Plentiful For Present Day Children—No Longer Does the Child Learn To Work.

New York, Jan. 23. — Parents have grown lazy and are responsible, in the main, for derelictions of boys and girls, Leater F. Scott, national executive of the Camp Fire Girls, and Miss Helen Ferris, member of the executive board, told 100 executives at a conference here today.

It is because parents permit children to crowd vast excitements into a short period of life, whereas these experiences should be absorbed only after years, that adolescent boys and girls get wrong impressions and viewpoints, both speakers maintained.

"Girls and boys should be taught work," said Mr. Scott. "The modern child now is surfeited with films, jazz dances and what not. Modern life is not interesting to children. The adolescent girl's amusements are created for her; she has few tasks to hold her mind. The modern girl is all right; she is as fundamentally sound as her grandmother. It's her surroundings that are all wrong."

Miss Ferris made a plea for young women social workers.

"The older women," she said, do not understand the girls, and they permit them amusements which the girls themselves would taboo were they to be put in charge. They will be much more strict than the older generation."

ADULT PROBATION
LAW IS URGED
BY COMMISSION

Commission of Which Mrs. Reed Is Member Makes Recommendation for Adult Probation.

One of the seven legislative proposals made by the Kentucky Children's Code Commission of which Mrs. Stanley P. Reed, of this city, is a member, to the Governor and General Assembly calls for the enactment of an adult probation law such as is now in effect in all but thirteen of the American states.

"We have probation in the juvenile courts, and a slight approach to it in other courts," said Miss Frances Ingram, of Louisville, chairman of the commission, in commenting on the recommendation. "But we still lack a real probation system, for adults as well as children, and probation officers duly qualified are the very heart and soul of such a system. The proposed act provided for the appointment of probation officers in any court in the discretion of the judges and proscribes their powers and duties. Many judges in Kentucky have expressed themselves as being handicapped in their work by not having at their disposal the services of probation officers."

"There is much misunderstanding as to the meaning of the probation," Miss Ingram continued. "Probation is the method by which the community, through its courts, seeks to supervise, discipline, and reform offenders without imprisoning them. It is used especially for young or first offenders and others not hardened in vice or crime. Adults found guilty, or children adjudged delinquent or in need of the care, protection or discipline of the state, are, after investigation by the probation officer, conditionally given their liberty, usually under suspension of sentence, and are placed under the authoritative, helpful oversight of a man or woman attached to the court in the capacity of probation officer."

"The greatest need of the juvenile courts in Kentucky is more and better qualified probation officers. Salaries are entirely inadequate. Adult probation, when properly used, is same and successful and has become as important and valuable a part of the correctional system in states like New York, Massachusetts and New Jersey, as have the state reformatories. Judges can safely be entrusted with the power conferred by the proposed adult probation law for Kentucky. The appointment of probation officers would be in the discretion of the judges, salaries to be determined by the city or county boards. Their appointment in courts handling family cases, such as non-support, desertion and divorce, would secure the most important feature of the so-called domestic relations courts."

"OPEN DOORS" DISCUSSED BY EVANGELIST HARMON

Another Strong Evangelistic Sermon Delivered at First M. E. Church, South, on Monday Evening.

"Open doors" was the general theme of the message delivered by Dr. Harmon at the First M. E. Church, South, last evening. He read from the third chapter of Revelation, and chose as his text part of the eighth verse, "Behold, I have set before thee an open door and no man can shut it." An open door inviting entrance is the door of christian privilege, or of personal salvation. It is impossible to stand still in christian experience, for the law of growth is active spiritually, as well as physically, and lack of progress produces stagnation. Church attendance is too frequently regarded as "respectable" and Dr. Harmon urged that christians must regard the church as a great army for fighting evil and saving men. He attributed the lack of joyousness in religion in many people to their having just enough religion to make them miserable in their attempt to keep their clutch on both the church and the world.

Dr. Harmon made a heart-stirring appeal to parents by presenting to them the open door for the salvation of their children. There is no greater responsibility than that of parent-hood, parents who would be true to God's principles in rearing children in an age that is pleasure mad, frivolously mad, eating mad, luxury mad. Fathers and mothers by molding character are making destiny. He pleaded for training by precept and example, shown through a guiding hand, and loving heart. He contrasted Abraham, who directed his family, with David whose heart was broken by his wayward son, Absalom.

Another open door is that of personal evangelism which should constantly open to a true christian really in earnest about the welfare of those about him.

POPE'S FUNERAL
TENTATIVELY SET FOR WEDNESDAY

Pope Benedict's Request That His Body Not Be Embalmed Is Carried Out—Conclave May Open On February Second.

Rome, Jan. 23. — The interment of Benedict XV. has been tentatively fixed for Wednesday afternoon. The body will lie in state in the basilica and St. Peter's only a day and a half more, according to the present plans. Benedict's wish not to be embalmed necessitates departure from the custom that the Pope's body lie in state for three days.

Final decision will be taken on this question Wednesday morning, but the present view of the Vatican is that it will be impossible to keep the body exposed beyond Wednesday afternoon. The statement also was made tonight, but not officially, that the coffin would be closed within a few hours, and that thus the usual ceremony of worshippers filing past kissing the uncovered foot of the dead Pope would be eliminated.

The moving of the body from the throne room to the basilica this morning was the occasion of an imposing ceremony. The bier was held shoulder high by ushers clad in costumes of scarlet, flanked by Noble Guards. The Sacred College followed, headed by the dean, Cardinal Vannutelli, each taking his position according to his rank. Cardinal Gasparri walked a considerable distance behind the dean, although occupying the post of Camerlingo, or head of the Roman church, during the interregnum.

On entering the main door of St. Peter's, the funeral party was received by the clergy in the great basilica, who escorted the cortege down the main central aisle to a position in the center of the church just opposite the statue of St. Peter. There absolution took place. The bier then was raised aloft and was passed into the Chapel of the Holy Sacrament, where the public can view the body through the immense iron gates.

A consistory, under the Presidency of Cardinal Gasparri, met this evening and decided definitely on February 2 as the time of the opening of the conclave to elect a successor to Pope Benedict.

VITAL SUBJECT DISCUSSED AT CHRISTIAN REVIVAL

Pastor Mullen Speaks on Church Membership at Christian Church Revival on Monday Evening.

Can one be a christian and not become a church member? was the question asked and answered at the revival service at the christian church last evening. In defining the term christian the speaker made it very plain that this term applies to all people everywhere who are the followers of Christ, and this as a matter of course implies the obeying of His commands and the observing of His ordinances. Christ says upon this rock will I build my church, meaning upon this faith—faith in the Father, faith in His promises, faith in our ultimate salvation provided we accept and obey. Since then becoming a christian is predicated upon our having faith, that same faith is the foundation of the church and we become members thereof when we become christians. It was a forceful presentation of a vital subject of much interest to many people. A good audience gave their undivided attention to every part of the service. These meetings continue through this week except Saturday and a cordial invitation is extended to all. Good singing and logical gospel sermons will make it worth your while to spend a short time in praise and worship.

PROTECTION OF REPUDIATION?

Republicans in Congress should decline to be stampeded by the ancient bromides of anti-protectionists about "Chinese walls" and "prohibitive tariffs."

The truth is that owing to demoralized industrial and financial conditions in Europe, particularly the fall in exchange, no tariff will be protective which is not much higher than any that would have been necessary a few years ago.

It is the duty and obligation of the majority in Congress to establish a tariff on all articles of general American production equal to the difference in labor cost at home and abroad, expressed in terms of American money. Any tariff short of this, whether it be five per cent. or a thousand per cent., will be futile because non protective.

Enemies of the protective policy, representing not only the doctrinaire opposition to protection in theory but certain merchandising and financial interests which are willing to fatten on the very corpse of American industry, have all too long delayed the fulfillment of the Republican platform pledge of a protective tariff. Meanwhile the blight of industrial paralysis has deepened. The shelves of American stores are crowded with foreign-made goods, but the wheels in American factories are idle, and will remain idle until something is done to stop the inundation of the American market with foreign commodities.

There are those who parrot the old free trade phrases about whatever protective duty is imposed being added to the price. That sophistry has been thoroughly discredited by the events of the past few years. Giving the importers and foreign producers control of the American market does not mean that the American consumer will be enabled to buy cheaply. It merely means that the importer will sufficiently undersell the American producer to put him out of business, eliminating domestic competition and making the purchasers of this country permanently the victims of alien exploitation.

No man in or out of Congress who believes that American industry should not be protected from unfair competition with alien production based upon starvation wages and a standard of living that could be established here only through the very destruction of our civilization, is neither a good Republican or a sound American.

Unless the tariff is high enough to equalize production costs, almost entirely labor costs, at home and abroad, it is not a protective tariff. Unless a protective tariff be adopted American industry is doomed to such further set backs in 1922 that the army of the unemployed will grow rather than diminish. If such a situation be brought about through a betrayal by alleged Republicans, of the cause of protection, the consequence will not merely be Republican defeat, but what is far worse than that, Republican disgrace through repudiation of pledges and the abandonment of a policy that has been fundamental in Republicanism since the founding of the party.— National Republican.

CROP VALUE PER ACRE DROPS 60 PER CENT. IN TWO YEARS

Ten Crops Including Greatest of All Production Show Big Value Decrease in Two Years.

Washington, D. C. — The average value per acre of 10 crops constituting nine-tenths of all crop production dropped from $35.76 to $14.48, or 60 per cent., during the two years 1919-21 announced the United States Department of Agriculture today. This decline is unparalleled within the scope of records of the Department dating back to 1866.

During the years immediately following the Civil War the general trend of the average downward, dropping from about $14 or $15 per acre to less than $8 by 1896, the lowest point in the industrial depression of that time. An advance then set in and by 1913 the average value per acre was $16.49. The following year there was a slight decline to $16.55 caused by the low price of cotton, but in 1916, the year before the United States entered the World War, the average advanced to $22.58, of $6.14 in two years. It was the greatest gain in one year in average value per acre for 10 crops was $10.69 from 1916 to 1917, the average for the latter year being $33.25. The average for 1918 was $33.73. The average continued to rise and in 1919 reached the peak of $35.76. A decline then set in, the average dropping $21.28 per acre, or 60 per cent., in the two years that followed.

Washington, Jan. 23. — Ordinary expenses of the government fell off by nearly $700,000,000 during the first half of the current fiscal year, as compared with the same period in 1920, while public debt disbursements decreased by about $1,000,000,000, according to a statement issued today by the Treasury covering financial operations from July 1 to December 31, 1921.

During the first six months of the current fiscal year ordinary expenses of the government aggregated $1,838,000,000, compared with $2,508,000,000 for the corresponding period of the previous year.

UNCLE TED'S BED-TIME STORIES.

"Gee, it makes me sick," lamented Jack as he dragged one foot after the other into the kitchen. "What's the use of havin' a lot of good ice if the rain's gotta come and spoil it all."

"What's the matter with you, Jack?" asked Ruth who was resting with her knees on a kitchen chair and both hands full of hot cookies. Mother was having a hard time baking them fast enough to supply a hungry little girl. "Have a cookie," added Ruth. "You just bet I will," said Jack. "Hum! Some good, Mumsie. Where's Uncle Ted, Ruth?"

"I just saw him going up-stairs with a book under his arm," answered Ruth as she jumped down from her chair. "Listen Jack, we'll have to go to bed soon, so let's get Uncle Ted to tell us a story."

Upstairs they went, pell-mell, bumping into Uncle Ted, Ruth grabbing his coat, and Jack jumping upon his back. "Oh, you little rascals," said Uncle Ted. "I thought cookies had you youngsters for the rest of the evening, at least, counting the pleasant dreams. Yes, I know, 'a story'. All right, come on into Jack's room. I'll talk while you get ready for bed."

"A long time ago, there was a man much older than your Uncle Ted, who served his country well in responsible positions. He always loved the service of his country, and ten years after he graduated from college he organized a naval brigade in his state which grew to be a strong organization. One day when he was scrubbing the decks of the training ship, Theodore Roosevelt, who was then Assistant Secretary of the Navy, noticed him and started a conversation. That conversation began a life-long friendship, and later, when Roosevelt became President of the United States, this man was made Assistant Secretary of the Navy and later Secretary. During the Spanish-American war he served as a lieutenant in the Navy. When the Great War reached out and involved our country he again was ready to serve his country, and as lieutenant commander he served through the remainder of the war as assistant to the commandant of the third naval district in New York many, many miles away from his home and family. He did not have to do it. He was long past the age, and the head of a family. From the day he was assigned to this work until the signing of the armistice he was never in his home state, not even for an hour. Not long after he took up his duties at Brooklyn he began to receive letters and visits from active men in public life from his home state urging him to be a candidate for United States Senator. He refused to resign as an officer in the Navy to run for office, but stated to his friends that if he decided to run he wanted his campaign to be managed by his home friends in business. That was all he ever had to do with the selection of the men who ran that campaign. He did run, but never left his naval post at New York during that time.

At first I only felt the pain on my left side, but later I seemed to feel it on both sides. I am a power sewing-machine operator and have a little girl to support. I work in a tailor shop and that line of work has been very slack this year and I am home part of the time. I do not like to take any chances, so I consulted my friends, and one lady said, 'Take Lydia Pinkham's medicine,' so I did. I have felt better right along and am in good enough health to go to work. I recommend your Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash to all." — Mrs. MARY ENRICO, 459 N. Carpenter St., Chicago, Illinois.

Their Medicine Chest For 20 Years

IT is characteristic of folks after they pass the allotted "three score years and ten," to look back over the days that are gone and thoughtfully live them over.

I find myself, at seventy-one, frequently reliving back a quarter of a century, when I was myself in the little drug store I owned at Belvoir, Mo., making and selling a vegetable compound to my friends and customers — what was then known as Dr. Lewis' Medicine for Stomach, Liver and Bowel Complaints.

For many years while I was perfecting my formula I studied and investigated the laxatives and cathartics on the market and became convinced that their main fault was not that they did not act on the bowels, but that their action was too violent and drastic, and upset the system of the user; which was due to the fact that they were not thorough enough in their action, some simply setting on the upper or small intestine, while others would act only on the lower or large intestine, and that they almost invariably produced a habit requiring continued doses.

I believed that a preparation to produce the best effect must first tone the liver, then act on the stomach and entire alimentary system. If this was accomplished, the medicine would produce a mild, but thorough elimination of the waste without the usual distressing sensations, and make the user feel better at once.

After experimenting with hundreds of different compounds, I at last perfected a formula that is now known as Lewis' Remedy, which I truly believe goes further and does more than any laxative on the market today. The thousands of letters from men have convinced me I was right, and that the user of Lewis' Remedy as a family medicine, even though he may have used it for twenty-five years, never has to increase the dose.

My knowledge of medicine and the results of its use in my own family and among my friends, before I ever offered it for sale, caused me to have great faith in Lewis' Remedy from the very first.

And now as I find myself nearing the age when I must bow to the inevitable and go to another life, my greatest pleasure is to sit each day and read the letters that each mail brings from people as old or older than I, who tell of having used Lewis' Remedy for ten, fifteen and twenty years, and how they and their children and grandchildren have been benefited by it.

It is a comforting thought, my friends, for a man at my age to feel that aside from his own success, one has done something for his fellow man. My greatest satisfaction and greatest happiness today, is the knowledge that tonight more than one million people will take a Lewis' Remedy (NS Tablet) and will be better, healthier, happier people for it. I hope you will be one of them.

"I'm glad," said Ruth. "What's his name?"

"But wait, Ruth. He was elected. Then started the most contemptible campaign of personal attack against him that was possibly ever waged before in the history of this country against one man. A state investigation was instituted. A Senate committee was formed to investigate and it dragged out, day after day, month after month. Finally three years after he was elected the matter reached the floor of the Senate and this fine American, clean of any guilt as to the charges against him — a man of action, not a speaker — arose on the floor of the Senate not to explain or escape responsibility, but to present the plain facts of his case. The Senate listened. Men who had been undecided how to vote, whether to put him out or vote that his seat was rightfully obtained, began to wonder. As he talked sincerely and quietly, men began to realize that he had been unjustly accused. He did not try to escape any responsibility; he simply gave the facts as he knew them.

"The next day the Senate voted and as I had hoped and felt sure, Truman H. Newberry was seated. He was vindicated and took his place as he should as the representative of the people of his state. It is to be hoped that no man will ever again have to face the hours of worry and bad feeling caused by unfair enemies, as has Truman Newberry. He is a fine man, a splendid Senator, and I am happy to know that he was fairly elected and fairly freed of the charges against him. Now skip along to bed."

"Because, in their wives' estimation, knickerbocker suits make men look younger, they are in demand in clothing stores," is the reason given by one salesman for the run on this type of suits.

New York Letter

by Lucy Jeanne Price

New York. — The largest diamond ever found in the Western Hemisphere was brought into the port of New York the other day on a vessel from South and Central American ports by W. J. Lavarre, a prospector for the Smithsonian Institute. Mr. Lavarre was treasuring it so closely — and one would hardly blame him for that — that he wouldn't show it to the public nor allow it to be photographed. He tried to console the disappointed populace by telling them that as it was still in the rough, it wasn't so very pretty anyhow. It was found by a native digger in the interior of British Guiana.

At last! New York is rising to make a fight for her most valued treasure — that same port of New York and its business and the waterways of the state which allow the country to produce to be brought here. The New York State Waterways Conference committee, with John D. Dunlop, chairman, has announced a vigorous campaign to acquit the shippers of the country with the value of the Harge Canal which allows the products of the Middle West to be brought here at low cost, and with the danger in the project presented by those who would divert the trade of that country to a foreign port and practically destroy the harbor of New York. "New York's waterways are waiting ready to transport the greater bulk of the commerce of the nation," Mr. Dunlop said, "and my committee intends to fight until the producers of the nation realize what this means to them and to the country, and not only to New York City and state." Civic and commercial bodies all over the state have joined with the committee in its educational crusade.

We have a new sculptor in our city, as yet comparatively unknown, but fated for fame someday. Rutelo is his name and he is a dweller of that gathering place of your artists — Greenwich Village. He has done remarkable conceptions of the heads of Drieser, Caruso, Bercevic, and one of Dante.

The Westchester Woman's Club, one of the most exclusively social organizations in the metropolitan district, is not going to leave all of the law-enforcement to the police. Not only has it announced a determination to prosecute all who violate the club rules, which provide that no liquor may be served on the premises, but its members have declared that anybody who comes there and looks as though he had a bottle on his hip will be searched. The custom of "carrying their own" was having a demoralizing effect upon some of the guests the women stated.

Columbus Circle, that spacious intersection of Broadway, Eighth avenue and Fifty-ninth street, has come to be dubbed "Sycraper Circle," so high into the air has it shot with new buildings in this past year. Columbus on his pedestal stands dwarfed completely, and the Maine monument looks almost toylike.

The Clivlax, or "color organ" made its debut in this country the other night under the guidance of its inventor, Thomas Wilfred, at the mid-week interludes presented at the Neighborhood Playhouse. In the droned auditorium, without the accompaniment of audible music, Mr. Wilfred rendered his symphony upon three white panels set upon the stage. He played four compositions, beginning with simple melodies in mass and intensity and gradually proceeding to the more difficult renditions of rhythmic flows of light. The play of color moving harmony and with a weird rhythm was almost hypnotic, and tremendously inspiring in an inexpressible way.

The oldest man in New York City is James Murray, who at the age of 107 is on duty daily at the gate of Trinity Cemetery. Two months ago a telephone message to the superintendent announced that he would be unable to come to work for two days because he had slipped and fallen. All merriment for the old man, as no one believed that he would be able to survive the shock. Yet in two days he was back on the job and has not missed a day since.

While we all realize that prosperity in the rural home is vitally dependent upon prosperity on the farm, possibly we sometimes overlook the fact that the reverse also is true. APPEAL LAUNCHED FOR STARVING RUSSIAN MILLIONS

American Committee For Relief of Famines Stricken in Russia Launches New Drive For Aid.

Chicago, Ill. — Preparations for a midwestern appeal for the starving millions in the Volga valley were launched today by the newly organized American Committee for Russian Famine Relief with headquarters at 405-409 Steinway building.

The organization includes governors, United States senators, representatives in congress, church dignitaries, widely known business and professional men and women, and representatives of farm organizations.

Funds collected will be expended in the United States for food, clothing and medical supplies, and turned over to the Russian Red Cross for distribution in the great sections of the famine area, where the American Relief Association and the Quakers are not operating, officials at headquarters announced.

The Russian Red Cross with representatives in every village in the famine district will be utilized for distribution of relief, under American supervision. No money need be spent for the maintenance of these workers, it was said. The Russian organization has the same international standing as the American Red Cross, and the recent international conference of the Red Cross in Geneva certifies that relief work was administered by it without distinction of sex, faith or political opinion.

Inadequacy of American relief to meet the appalling conditions in the Volga valley, which comprises a territory approximating that of Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Iowa, Nebraska and Kansas, with a population of 25,000,000 persons, prompted the organization of the American Committee for Russian Famine Relief and the decision to make an appeal for help in Illinois and neighboring states, Bishop Samuel Fallows, Chicago representative on the international advisory council of the American committee, said this morning.

Reports from relief workers in Russia show that the peasants are leaving the devastated country-side, hoping that somewhere else they may find food, the Bishop said. In many instances, he added, mothers are leaving their babies behind, unable to stand the torture of hearing them whine for something to eat.

No expressed the opinion that typhus, which is accompanying the famine, may spread over the world like the Spanish influenza, unless aid is given quickly.

As a result of the exodus and the weakened condition of those who may survive the winter, the spring planting will be insignificant and there will be a repetition of the famine next year, unless something is done, he explained.

The American Relief Association started work in Russia with $8,000,000.

The American Red Cross donated $4,000,000 more. With $12,000,000 at its disposal, Colonel Haskell, head of the American Relief Commission, estimated 1,200,000 children could be fed until spring. He said 5,000,000 other children would die, unless fed.

Congressional for Russia, amounting to $20,000,000 will only partially relieve the situation, according to former Governor James Goodrich of Indiana, who recently returned from a tour of the famine region. He said $50,000,000 was needed at once. Part of the $20,000,000 appropriation will be spent for seed grain.

In making its appeal for funds, there will be no attempt at competition with existing relief organizations, officers of the American Committee said. Where existing organizations are functioning, there will be the fullest co-operation.

Coln boxes for Russian famine relief have been placed in restaurants and drug stores all over Chicago as a preliminary step.

ADAM WISHED APPLE ON MALE DESCENDANTS.

When the world was not so full of books as it is at present the Bible was more thoroughly read, although it may not have been as widely read as it now is. Our forefathers were fond of pursuing the stories and the incidents contained therein ever further than the scriptural explanations. Legends go much further than the Book of Genesis, which merely relates the episode of Eve and the apple in the briefest and most concise language, and connect different kinds of birds and animals with the fall of man. Incidents are introduced that do not appear in the original version.

One such legend is responsible for the name "Adam's apple" as applied to the thyroid cartilage of the larynx, a projection which is more apparent in man than in woman. This legend is the effect that when Adam attempted to swallow the bite of his apple from the Tree of Life he choked and the fruit stuck in his throat. All males since Adam have had this protuberance as silent evidence of the incident of their ancestor. In this legend Adam received the punishment of eating the apple although he never had the delight of swallowing it.

IS THIS YOUR EXPERIENCE?

Many Maysville People Are Afflicted With Annoying Kidney Ills.

Are you bothered with too frequent action of the kidneys? Are the secretions highly colored—do they contain sediment—burn and scald in voiding? These are all signs of kidney sickness and should not be neglected. Maysville people recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. If your back aches and your kidneys are weak you will find no better recommended remedy.

George H. King proprietor grocery store, 615 East Second street, Maysville says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills off and on for several years and have been greatly benefited by them. At times my kidneys got out of order and the secretions passed irregularly. I suffered with a severe aching through the small of my back. Whenever I have one of these attacks I use a box or so of Doan's Kidney Pills and they never fail to cure the complaint in a short time." (Statement given November 15, 1916.)

PERMANENT BENEFIT.

On November 22, 1920, Mr. King added: "The cure I spoke about in my former statement has proven absolutely permanent. I haven't had the slightest sign of kidney trouble since giving my testimony in favor of Doan's Kidney Pills in 1916."

Price 60 cents at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. King had. Foster-Milburn Co., Maysville, N. Y.

RUBY DE REMER HELD MOST PERFECT BY ARTIST

Paul Hellen, Says Leading Woman of "The Passionate Pilgrim" Is Beauty Queen.

Ruby De Remer, who has the leading feminine role in "The Passionate Pilgrim," the superb Cosmopolitan picture released by Paramount, and which will be shown at the Washington theater next Thursday, has been proclaimed the queen of Remer "is perfection in beauty of features, coloring and grace." The artist is an authority in this regard and his judgment is regarded as the final American beauty by Paul Hellen, the celebrated French artist.

Mr. Hellen states that Miss de Remer is the most perfect type of American femininity, there is none to dispute the dictum.

Miss de Remer has the role of an invalid heiress in "The Passionate Pilgrim" and during most of the action of the story, she is seated in a wheel chair. But love finally cures her and she finds happiness in the love of a man she has befriended.

HEARING IS HELD ON CANAL ROUTE AT CINCINNATI

Toledo-Cincinnati Route for Proposed Lake-to-River Canal Is Backed By Cincinnati Interests at Hearing Today.

Cincinnati, Jan. 24. — There was a feeling of tension among proponents of the Toledo-Cincinnati route for the contemplated large canal from the lakes to the Ohio River as they gathered at the Gibson Hotel Tuesday to make what is believed to be the final cast of the dice in the long effort to locate the canal here.

The tension arose from the knowledge that in all probability the future of Cincinnati and a large part of Ohio is bound up to a great degree in the recommendations to be made by the board of army engineers who heard final arguments in favor of this route for the canal.

The project for the canal has been discussed for years. Survey of different routes have been made and data gathered by governmental, state, municipal and private agencies. Since the war the project, given fresh impetus by economic and transportation conditions, has simmered down to the consideration of four routes.

These routes are: Ashland to Pittsburgh, Cleveland to Marietta, Sandusky to Portsmouth, Toledo to Cincinnati.

The army engineers came here to hear what was to be said in favor of the Toledo-Cincinnati route by the city and interests along this route.

The board heard arguments Monday at Columbus on the Cleveland-Marietta and Sandusky-Portsmouth routes. Advocates of the Pittsburgh-Ashland route already had been heard.

When all the evidence is in the board will recommend to General Lansing H. Beach, chief of engineers, what it believes to be the best route. He will report to Congress.
